C. will be begun this month during the time the Board of Regents will meet. Ground will be broken for the boys' dormitory and excavation will follow, with construction proceeding at an indefinite date because of the uncertainty of obtaining building materials.

New Contest Date

The April 1 date, previously set as deadline for the Bertha Dooley English award contest copy has been moved to May 1, upon direction of professor Dooley and Miss Washburn.

Future Teachers Present Picture

"Assignment: Tomorrow", a National Education Assignment film was presented in the chapel hour, March 6.

The cast of characters shown in this picture included typical American children and their teachers who were working at the job of education for a better America.

The E. E. Angel chapter of the F. T. A. of Northwest Nazarene College was the first Future Teacher organization in Idaho and has made a record for itself through the years of its existence.

Miss Allison and Prof Laughlin will go to the delegate assembly of the Idaho Education Association this spring at Boise. They will be accompanied by two elected student delegates who are Mary Harmon, Secondary Education representative and Ann Trout, Primary.

Rev. Riley Speaks At English Major Dinner

"The Value of Literature" was the subject of Rev. John E. Riley, speaker at the English Major's banquet held at the Dewey Palace on Monday evening, February 25.

The program and dinner were planned by Professor Marian Washburn and Professor Bertha Dooley was mistress of ceremonies. To create atmosphere for the room several well-known works of literature were placed on each table.

Professor Dooley and Professor Washburn both expressed the hope that the banquet might be the beginning of an annual affair.

Dr. Burch, as a professor of political science, spoke on the question of World Peace and the philosophy of peace which is prevalent in the world today. She stated, "In my mind there are two basies for peace in the world at present: a balance of power, and an international organization like the United Nations Conference." She favored the latter and gave her reasons from "moral", "historical" and "political bases."

"It seems, however, that we as a nation are going down both of these roads at the same time," she commented, "though it is plain to see that they are quite incompatible."

The Board of Regents of Northwest Nazarene College will convene for their semi-annual meeting at 1:30 p. m., Wednesday, March 13. Under the direction of Dr. E. E. Martin, president of the Board, the main topic for discussion will be the progress and procedure of the expansion program.

A Student Union This Semester?

That we will eventually have a Student Union on the campus of N. N. C. is a certainty, for when the new gym is built our present gym will be converted into a permanent Student Union. But this change may not take place for perhaps ten years, seeing that the new gym, according to present plans, is the last unit to be constructed in the expansion program.

The question naturally arises, what are we going to do in the way of a Student Union during the intervening years? Are hundreds of our students going to be denied the privilege of all-around cultural development? Admittedly, there are a few students who as yet have not recognized the need of a Student Union, and we are satisfied with conditions as they are. On the other hand there are many students who have attended other colleges and know from experience and observation that one of the main centers of college life and spirit is a Student Union. It is at once both a channel for release of excess energy, and a crossroads where people can meet without class (room) distinction, and freely discuss the latest currents of thought. One of the undeniable benefits of a Student Union would be the increased fellowship engendered between campus and off-campus students.

Until recently those who have seen the need of a Student Union failed to see the possibility of its actual realization. Like students of former years they could do nothing but wait and hope for the eventual; thus plans were never developed beyond the wishing stage.

But this year it is different; a Student Union is now within the realm of possibility. The removal of heavy equipment from the printing shop renders usable a large floor space, which in combination with the adjoining shop room is adequate for a Student Union. These unused rooms could be remodeled into a kitchen, fountain bar, and recreation room. A rough estimate of the cost of such remodeling and installation of equipment would be seven hundred dollars—a very small investment in proportion to the real and practical value of a Student Union.

There will be many difficulties on the road to the realization of such a project; among them could be mentioned the problems of finance, materials, labour, and the procurement of a full time supervisor. These problems are not unsurmountable, but their solution will challenge our determination to have a Student Union and a greater N. N. C.

The question is, Do we want a Student Union this semester? If so, let's organize and start the job, and let our slogan be, "EVENTUALLY, WHY NOT NOW?"

—Willard Midby.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Recently we have noticed some rather disheartening gestures and comments around our campus. It seems that certain individuals have the idea that they are just a little bit better than some of their classmates. I'm referring primarily to what is known as gossip.

Mother used to tell us a story about two hunchbacks who were walking down the road. The one in back was pointing to the one ahead, laughing and sneering. The catch was that the fellow behind had the biggest hunch on his own back!

The point is, aren't we all created equal? As a friend of ours says, "We'll all be cremated equal."

There's an old saying that when the sun is overhead many a piece of glass thinks it is a diamond. We are just two persons who think that as Christian young people some one should make a plea for a more democratic attitude toward fellow students.

How about some constructive person-to-person criticism instead of this destructive gossip we've been hearing. Maybe in the near future we should have a chapel talk on Luke 14: 8-11.

If there is anyone around here too perfect to have a kind word for a classmate what is he doing in this imperfect world?
—Vicky and Eleanor Klinner.

Church Militant

By DAVID NYBERG

Lutherans' 400th Birthday

Over five million Lutherans in the United States and Canada observed the four hundredth anniversary of Lutheranism recently.

It was on February 18, 1545 that Martin Luther first posted his thesis on the door of his Wittenberg church. In his dying hour, Luther steadfastly upheld the doctrines that he had since that time pronounced.

The largest protestant denomination (Lutheran world population is estimated at 63,000,000) had its first American congregation in Wilmington, Delaware in 1638.

Commission to Japan

The Living Church, a periodical generally regarded as the voice of the Anglo-Catholic (high church) section of the Episcopal Church, strongly supports a proposal to send a commission of representative Christian leaders to give Christianity to Japan.

The suggestion for bringing about this work is outlined in the Living Church. The essence of this: first that the mission be world-wide embracing all Christian faiths in all countries, even Roman Catholics unless they will to exclude themselves; second that this mission should be sponsored by the World Council of Churches, the only organization in a position to sponsor a really ecumenical mission.

Report on Germany

Under the sponsorship of the British Council of Churches, John Baille, one of the delegation to contact leaders of German Protestantism, reports that in spite of the intense cold and wrecked condition of buildings, German churches are filled to capacity with worshippers.

In British, American, and French zones all universities are open and crowded with students despite the shortage of books. The Nazis destroyed 37,000,000 books at Leipzig alone.

There is hope in and for German youth. They are eager to hear the Christian message and have not, it is thought, been permanently indoctrinated by Nazi propaganda.

Mormons Object

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has, according to reports from the presidency reaching Religious News Service, gone on record as "vigorously" opposing conscription of any form of compulsory military training.

Service Men

By GERRIE GAINES

This issue I have a first semester veteran whom you have noticed frequently. He is Arthur W. Gwynn from Boston, Massachusetts. Before his voluntary enlistment into the army Air Corps, he was pastor of the Nazarene Church in Rockland, Maine. Arthur was in the service three years. Two of these years were spent in Northern Africa and around Italy. He was a Bombsight Maintenance Man in the ground crew. His Bomb Group, the 321st, received a Presidential Citation.

Receiving his discharge last April, Arthur enrolled here last September as a college junior. Mr. Gwynn plans to take up his duty as pastor after his graduation.

Second semester we were glad to see Ensign Rex Stanton of the Navy Air Corps return to our campus. After 27 months of hard work, Rex is now a Pilot in the Navy Reserve. His home is here in Nampa. With that melodious baritone voice of his, it was a simple matter to step back into the a capella choir and the First Church quartet. Rex says that his favorite colors are wild—and he is "still looking." He is a member of the junior class and is taking a pre-med. course.

"If Thou Wilt Be Perfect"

By LETA SLEMMER

"Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect—" Matt. 19-21.

When the rich, young ruler came running to Jesus, I do not think it was as the result of a sudden impulsive fancy. I think this eminently successful young man had been seriously pondering a feeling of deep spiritual need in his soul which the treasures of the world had not satisfied.

The tragic story is familiar to us. He had done what he could to make his life perfect by keeping the commandments, and yet, he recognized a lack. "What lack I yet?" he said. Many young people today feel such a lack—the need for spiritual aid beyond the realm of human possibilities. There is that in the soul which requires a miracle to satisfy it.

I have wondered what thoughts were in the mind of the young ruler as he returned to his home that day disappointed and hopeless. I do not think that he soon forgot the interview. I wonder if, as he pondered Jesus's words, he remembered how He said to him, "If thou wilt be perfect—"

"Who said anything about being perfect!" he may have reasoned, justifying himself. "I asked, 'What good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life?' He answered, 'If thou wilt be perfect—' I didn't want—nor expect—to be perfect, only to have eternal life—No! I cannot—will not—pay the price!"

Alas for the rich young ruler! But are you seeking something less than perfection. Have you said in your heart, "You're only young once; Youth is the time for fun and pleasure—None of us is perfect—I'll not commit sin! I'll not be wicked, worldly, or rebellious—but who said anything about being perfect?"

Nevertheless, the Bible standard, God's standard, is "Be ye perfect!" (Matthew 5:48, II Corinthians 13: 11). Of course we understand that this means in God's sight, not men's, but perfect is a superlative word. It allows of no exceptions, no half-way devotion.

It was Michaelangelo, the artist, who said, "Trifles make perfection, and perfection is no trifle." If you are a Christian, why not go "all out" for Christ. If you have given your life to Him in full consecration, then it is in trifles that you can achieve perfection. Sanctification is to be obtained by active faith in God's promise, but perfection must be attained (II Corinthians 7:1) by careful, prayerful, faithful effort to do God's whole will, and to correct those trifling habits and weaknesses that detract from Christian character.

By PEGGY OLDFIELD

Miss Ivis Hopper, who graduated from N. N. C. in 1945 and took training at Samaritan Hospital, has arrived at Bremersdorf, Swaziland in Africa.

She writes that the trip was, "wonderful." After having travelled on a British cargo vessel where she occupied the gun crew quarters, she came to appreciate British humor, and took a great deal of chiding about her American drawl.

"As I entered the harbor at Durban, nearing my future home and field of labor," she writes, "I began to sing—

'I am a stranger here, within a foreign land.

My home is far away upon a golden strand.

Ambassadors to be of realms beyond the sea.

I'm here on business for my King." She continues by saying, "We were all too glad to be nearly to our destination, but we all felt far too unqualified to face the next job ahead of us. Surely we would have to come for the King's business only. No other task could have brought me to this distant land."

She described the thrill of being welcomed by the natives and missionaries as well. Some of them she had met previously, others she had not known before.

The first Sunday at the station she received a Zulu Testament as a Christmas gift from the native nurses.

"Zulu," she added, "is my headache, but everyone says it's a worse headache before we get it, so, 'I have learned whatsoever state I'm in, therein to be content.'"

Miss Hopper stated that her work was different and a little difficult but added, "I love it."

COUNCIL CURRENTS World Day of Prayer

By VERONA TAVES

Our plans for the "N.N.C. Founders Day Program," are progressing quite nicely. Elmore Vail, chairman of the committee was present at our last Student Council Meeting, in which a detailed discussion was held on the subject. We believe it will be a grand opportunity for the prospective students in and around the Northwest territory to get a bird's eye view of college life, all packed into one day's activities!

Spring at any college, holds many festive days. We have numerous memories of the gay times our campus day has afforded us in the past years. Woody Smith, one of our returned service men, has been appointed chairman of the Campus Day activities. It is the one time of the year when all students may share in the beautifying of our campus. With all the enthusiasm and school spirit shown about us this semester, I'm sure this campus day will be the best ever.

Annual World Day of Prayer, March 8, will be observed by all denominations in services held at the First Church of the Nazarene, Nampa, Idaho.

Ending the day will be a Young People's Rally planned by the council of all the churches with Virgil Vail as chairman. The College Church plans to contribute to the program a quartet number sung by Lowell Blum, Clarence Peterson, Eldon Snyder and Don Dale. Lawrence Faul will take the main part in a radio skit.

The first day of prayer in the United States was started by the Presbyterian Church in 1887 to pray for the foreigners coming to this country. It was found that many such days of prayer were being held in different countries so it was decided to have them the same day. The first World Day of Prayer was observed in 1927 on the first day of Lent.

World Day of Prayer is observed by Christians the world over starting

THE RAVING REPORTER

By VIRGINIA RICKMAN

By the time everyone is well-adjusted to the tasks of the second semester and has delved deep into the intellectual realms, and has acquired that serious attitude of study. Just to relieve that tension I'll try to call to mind some of the less serious things of life—college life in particular.

Have you seen that little sailor around the campus these last few days? Also have you seen the diamond on Larry Theiss' finger? I've heard somewhere that they have some connection. Best wishes Larry!

Here's a riddle. . . What is worse than no nylons, salt in your peps, five minutes before class and you without your German assignment, your best girl dating your best friend, and an F on your grade card, all rolled into one? The answer. . . exams. Yes, the riddle is as corny as the thought but life's like that, you know. Exams, and you with a brain as absorbent as a policeman's slicker. That situation is enough to douse and drench and drown anyone's joy and enthusiasm. Your spirits droop so low they could look a worm in the eye. So that puts you down on my level allowing me to whisper into your ear this bit of compromise. If you'll tell me how to keep that resolution about never getting behind in your studies, I'll tell you where Rudy Feltar got those rings she has been sporting around.

Have you seen a charming little blonde lady with a disarming smile visiting on the campus lately? That my little friends, is Ruth Rogers, a former N. N. C. student. It's good to see you back again Ruth.

My most humble apologies go to Russell Speer. I didn't mean to hurt his feelings and bestow upon him a new nickname by calling him the "large economy size."

AROUND CAMPUS Your Personality

Among visitors to the campus the last two weeks were: Jim Davis (Wanda's brother), Mr. Roland Marsh, Joe Harper of the Navy, Virgil Grover, Mr. James McGraw, who is the brother of Professor Aline Swann, and Loraine Theiss' boy friend.

Also visiting was Mrs. Wm. Surerus of Gladstone, Oregon and her two daughters Janice and Sharon. Mrs. Surerus is the mother of Viola Surerus who is attending here.

The Reverend Frank Davies of Greenleaf, Idaho brought a message on "The Whole Christian" in chapel Friday.

The Academy Christian Club "Semper Fidelis" held the Youth Rally Saturday night, March 2. They held a St. Patrick's Day party the following Monday.

Monty Lee's basketball boys presented a varied program in chapel February 22. They told stories of what happened on the basketball trip.

On February 21 the Academy had charge of the Missionary service.

Selected motion pictures of the work being done by the Nazarene Church in Africa were shown at prayer meeting Wednesday by Reverend Elmer Schmelzenbach. Reverend Schmelzenbach later spoke on missions in the Sunday evening service with some thirty persons seeking an altar of prayer.

LELA CHITTENDEN

DAVE FRIESEN

A slender, friendly freshman girl often seen brightening the corners of N.N.A. is Lela Chittenden, representative for her class in the Academy student council.

When "der pocketbook" permits, you will find Lela at Kampus Korner stuffing herself with ice cream.

I'd like to know how much Miss Wilson invested in this remark, but for some reason Lela chooses World History as her favorite "slave session."

She hasn't decided for sure what her favorite song is, but since she can't stand this gooey Idaho mud, she's about to say, "Anything but rain, so 'Let It Snow!'"

Lela seems quite firm in her declaration that she is a manhater —of course, men have nothing to do with good-looking boys.

This tall, Lincoln-like individual, junior representative to the Academy council, may be seen almost anytime ambling over the campus somewhere. His hearty bellow is heard wherever he is seen.

Having lived on a farm all of his life, he plans to be an agriculture specialist. On his dad's 2,000 acre ranch they raise cattle and cotton—more cattle than cotton, he says.

He is crazy about sports; but we wonder.—Can a person be crazy about two important things when one is very important—fr instance, Nadine Trovillion?

Now for this admonition: when you are around Dave, never even look like you are going to say, "I'm warm," unless you want to hear the response, "I'm Friesen!"

Semper Fidelis

Semper Fidelis, N. N. A. Christian honor society, was formally organized Monday evening, February 25th with the following selected as officers: Carole Rapp, president; Lyndol Pullen, vice president; Patty Kirley, secretary; and Charlotte Zimmerman, treasurer. A committee was appointed to look into the matter of selecting pins for the group.

Miss Helen Wilson presided over the meeting and spoke briefly to the group on future plans and projects. Harold Gretzinger and Dave Friesen led in choruses, and songs.

At the close of the meeting two students sought the Lord for special needs.

Ward and Rapp New Electees To Council

The NNA senior class met in special session last Friday, February 1st, to elect a new president and a representative to the academy council. Miss Muriel Ward, vice-president, received a majority vote and was installed as president of the class. Carole May Rapp was chosen to be class representative.

Broncs Buck NNC Five In Season's Last Hoop Battle

The Crusaders traveled to Boise for their final game of the season, Feb. 23 and were beaten by the BJC Broncs as they came out on the short end of a 62-39 score. It was the fourth meeting between the two teams for the season and the first BJC win.

The N. N. C. boys showed the effects of a long road trip and did not perform in the style that their followers are accustomed to seeing. Elmore Vail led the Crusaders with a score of 9 points and Roseboro trailing close with a score of 8.

Olys Capture Championship in Friday Basketball Jamboree At College Gym

SPORT SLANTS

By ORRIN HILLS

Howdy folk—glad to be back again giving you a little light on the sports side of school. I have had a great many experiences since the last column I wrote. I have traveled about 1800 miles, seen many beautiful campuses, and types of schools.

I would like to say a word about the Intra-Mural program at SPC Seattle, Washington. There the teams are made up from the classes: Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior, as in Bethany. We saw Jr. boys defeat the Sr.'s in a lousy ball game (if you will permit me to use the word) the first night. The second night the girls played from some classes, the Juniors winning again, but what a game.

Did you ever see action girls? Outside of a few exceptions, they would make our girls look sick. (I'm not saying that to criticize, but to challenge.) They really had the drive, in fact Monty was ready to sign a couple to the "Crusader" team.

There seems to be a little misunderstanding about the Mills-Cunningham cup as to how many times a society must win it before keeping it. The awarding of this trophy is the same as the Faculty Loving Cup. A society must win it three times before that society may keep it permanently. The OLYs won it last year and this year again.

Spring is just around the corner. The tennis courts are full. How about a little work in our other court so you don't have to wait in line to get a little exercise? It wouldn't take but a very little and it would be all set. How about it?

FLASH! We will have track and field day this year for both boys and girls. So start now to limber your joints and muscles. Also time to start limbering that throwing arm. What for? Baseball!

Mills-Cunningham Trophy Is Awarded

Climaxing a successful season in which they won both the first and second semester intra-mural basketball races, the Olympians captured the championship in the Jamboree among the four societies held Friday, March 1.

The champions won the Mills-Cunningham loving cup for the second straight year by walloping the SLAs by a 25-16 score. The game was slow in the first half with the score tied at 4-4 at the first quarter and 8-5 in favor of the winners at the half-time.

After the intermission the Olys slowly stretched their lead and at the finish the lineup was made up of substitutes. Finkbeiner led his teammates to victory with 9 points while Litsey scored 7 for the losers.

In the preliminary game, the LSP team took third place as they whipped the ADPs 37-28. The game was close and rough with the losers leading at the half 19-18 but soon after the intermission they lost the two of their starters via the foul route and the LSPs slowly surged ahead.

Smith led the LSPs with 17 points while Palmer and Franklin shared scoring honors for the APs with 10 apiece.

In the first round games played Friday afternoon the Olys and SLAs reached the final game by virtue of 30-25 and 21-18 wins over the ADPs and LSPs respectively. Finkbeiner also led the OLYs during the afternoon game with 11 markers while Klundt led the ADPs as he scored 8.

Trojans Journey To Boise For Last Tilt

The NNA Trojans journeyed to Boise to play their last game of the season with St. Teresa Academy February 26.

At the half-time the Trojans were in the lead 18-17. In the second half they really started rolling. When the final whistle blew the Trojans were ahead 34-23.

This makes the secondtime the Trojans have played the Boise team.

A large Academy cheering section went with the team for the last game. The Trojans have completed a good season and wish to thank the students of NNC and NNA for their cooperation.

NEW BOOKS

By EUNICE POWELL

Want to Read?

On February 25 several new books arrived at the library. Among these is Saroyan's "Human Comedy", the story of an American family in wartime.

"Random Harvest," an English story of a man who is recommended for everyone's reading-for-pleasure book list.

An older novel which will continue to live despite the passing of time is Emily Bronte's "Wuthering Heights," one of the most compelling novels in the English language, which is now on our fiction shelf.

Finding enjoyment in teaching Creative Chalk and Academy Algebra, Ruth is planning to continue her profession in the Washington schools after graduation.

Speaking of N. N. C., Ruth stated, "I enjoy the congenial, friendly attitude of the students and the deep spiritual atmosphere prevalent throughout all activities."

Crusader Five Split Two Game Series

The N. N. C. Crusaders split their two game series with the Lewiston Normal Loggers in the games played February 21 and 22

The Crusaders won the first contest, which was played in Central gym, by a 34-31 score. Friday evening, the Loggers came back and slapped the N. N. C. team down with a 37-30 win in the college gym.

Although both games were low-scoring affairs with tight defensive play, the evenness of the two teams and the close score held spectator interest throughout both games. Stan Roseboro led the Crusaders scoring in both games, tallying 12 the first night and following with 13 the next.

Toss Ups

Well, by now volleyball is pretty well under way. The SLAs and OLYs have both won one and lost none, while the ADPs and LSPs as yet haven't won any.

For the rest of the year we have a full athletic program, so keep on your toes.

We will have two rounds of volleyball and a round of ping-pong and archery. I understand certain parties are trying to secure a badminton set which would mean fun for all.

Softball is the next thing on the list that commands main interests. We will play two rounds of this, also, so you can start practicing soon now.

The first of May brings tennis. I've noticed quite a few playing tennis lately. That's swell — we could stand a little more competition in the way of tennis.

There's a swell program outlined for us in the next two months so let's really get on the ball and give it everything we've got.

A reading "The Last Dutchess" by Browning, given by Alice Lawrence, a solo, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes" sung by Roger Taylor, and a piano solo, "Wedding Recessional" from Shakespeare's Midsummer Night's Dream by Mendlesohn played by Mrs. Carol Gish comprised the dinner program.

Yes, he died with his boots on alright, but one boot was on the accelerator.
